

Bright Bumblebees

Topic

This week we learned about Rosa Parks. Rosa was famous for politely refusing to give up her bus seat for a white person in Alabama, 1955. This led to protests, namely Montgomery Bus Boycott. We learnt that protests are a way of expressing your opinions and disapproval.

Maths

We have begun our statistics topic. This week we have learnt about how to use a tally chart and how to read information from a table of results. Children could continue with this learning at home by doing a 'favourite colour' tally chart with their family or even a traffic survey (colour of vehicles going past your home).
